About Nexus

Nexus Equine was founded in 2016 to address equine welfare issues in Oklahoma. Oklahoma is a top 5 state in the country for number of horses, yet, is sorely under resourced for horses when they fall in need. Through partnerships and innovative programs, Nexus Equine has impacted over 1865 horses in just 7 short years.

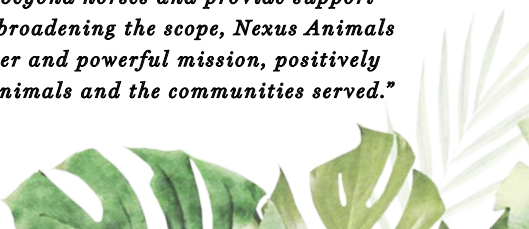

In early 2023, Nexus Equine widened the scope of it's mission with the introduction of Nexus Pets. Oklahoma currently ranks 10th for the highest number of dogs and cats euthanized annually in animal shelters. Due to this and the severe overcrowding in our local shelters, Nexus Equine expanded to address animal welfare on a bigger scale to include dogs and cats. The growth of Nexus Equine to our new parent name, Nexus Animals, reflects the organization's evolving commitment of animals beyond horses.

By increasing capacity for at-risk dogs and cats, Nexus Animals is taking a progressive step to enhance its positive impact on the animal welfare landscape in Oklahoma. Since April 2023, Nexus Pets has impacted over 500 dogs and cats.

Nexus Animals is positioned to be a game changer for animals in Oklahoma, but we need your help more than ever.

Rita Hoch, President and CEO of Nexus Animals, expressed her enthusiasm about this transformative development:

"This expansion is a progressive step and will enable Nexus to extend compassionate efforts beyond horses and provide support to dogs and cats in need. By broadening the scope, Nexus Animals will carry out an even stronger and powerful mission, positively impacting a wider range of animals and the communities served."
